About this Survey

• Family Enterprise USA (FEUSA) is a 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to educating the public and creating an environment where private family business is valued and strengthened.

• The FEUSA Family Business Survey is conducted to update lawmakers on the facts about and priorities of family businesses each year, and to further our efforts to grow public support for hard working family-owned businesses across America.

• FEUSA retained Family Office Exchange (FOX) to coordinate participant outreach and administer the 2017 FEUSA Family Business Survey. This report captures data from 186 family-owned businesses that completed the online survey from February 23 to March 17, 2017.

• Sample sizes are noted for each question. If you have questions or comments about the data and analysis presented herein, please contact FEUSA Board Chair, Mike Hamra at mhamra@teamhamra.com, or Pat Soldano at pmsoldano@policyandtaxationgroup.com, FEUSA Board Member.

• FEUSA and Family Office Exchange are grateful to the university-based family business centers, Family Office Exchange members, and trusted advisors to family businesses who helped spread the word about this survey and, most of all, to the family business leaders who took time to share their perspectives by completing this survey.
Survey Highlights

About the Participants

• The majority of survey participants (60%) are either sole owner or majority owner of a business that generates up to $50 million in annual revenue. While most businesses operate in the U.S., 17% also have operations in other countries.

• Half of business owners employ 50 employees or less; 35% have anywhere from 51 to 1,000 employees.

• Survey participants have businesses in all industries, including real estate (12%), manufacturing (11%) and food and beverage (10%).

Long-term Commitment to their Businesses and Communities

• Half of the participants have first and second generation businesses, while the other half are third generation or beyond. Most (65%) have multiple generations of the family working together in the business. Eighty-one percent (81%) consider their business to be part of the legacy they leave their children.

• About 40% have passed on partial or full ownership of the business to the next generation. Those who have not transitioned to the next generation are either working on a succession plan, do not want to give up ownership yet, or their children are not interested in the business.

• Most (76%) saw their business revenue grow in 2016 and are confident about the business’ ability to increase revenue each year. Consequently, 72% plan to hire additional employees in 2017, an increase from 66% in 2016.

• Aside from creating jobs, 92% of business owners pursue civic engagement by sharing their time, talents and resources in their communities.
Challenges & Concerns

• While participants are confident in their ability to grow their business, their top concerns include reducing income taxes, reducing regulations and minimizing or eliminating estate taxes.

• Seventy-eight (78%) of participants see external influences such as government regulation, tax policy and the economic environment as a greater threat to their sustainability than internal issues, such as family conflict.

• About 19% of business owners indicate that planning for estate taxes affects their ability to add jobs. In 2016, they incurred an average of $74,940 in insurance for estate taxes, an average of $170,800 in other estate tax planning costs and an average of 13% of their time was spent planning for estate taxes.

• Business owners share, in their own words, the impact of the regulations on their business. The common themes are around estate taxes costing money, resources and time that they could have put into growing their business.

• Understanding their concerns, it is no surprise that 63% of business owners find it more challenging to operate their businesses today than it was five years ago. This is significant because 21% of participants say they would have hired more employees if they did not have to spend resources on estate tax.

Voice of Business Owners

What would you like lawmakers to know about the impact of estate taxes on your business?

• “The uncertainty of future estate/gift/GSTT tax rules, rates and thresholds requires significant time and cost (consultants) and wasted efforts to educate and re-educate family members taking away from business activities (development of new products and services) and finding, training and hiring qualified people in the immediate and surrounding communities.”

• “If estate taxes were totally repealed, the positive impact would be that I would spend the savings and the savings in time spent, on new projects to improve the business.”

• “Estate taxes hamper succession and reduce our chances for surviving this generation. Option is to sell out and that basically kills a productive, independent business.”

• “Changes the current look at opportunities because we MUST maintain a certain amount of extra liquidity. Will force us to downsize our business, sell assets and reduce staff when deaths occur.”

• “Estate taxes stifle growth and development, as well as impact succession possibilities that could allow a business to successfully transition ownership from generation to generation, and serve communities in perpetuity.”

• “It reduces our ability to invest in the company, to grow and employ people.”

• “It diverts attention from growing the business and adding more jobs.”

• “The uncertainty of potentially having a big bill to pay at an uncertain time causes us to maintain more liquid assets when our business is largely real assets.”

• “It impacts our ability to grow the business and add new jobs. It also creates uncertainty, and, for us, much of the money ends up being paid to consultants such as attorneys and CPAs versus creating jobs for hard working Americans.”
About Family Enterprise USA

Mission and Approach
Family Enterprise USA (FEUSA) is dedicated to educating the public about the implications of public policy upon closely held and family-owned businesses. FEUSA conducts non-partisan research that highlights the contributions of family enterprises to the economy and the challenges these businesses face, which is then used to educate. This research provides the foundation for FEUSA to educate the public and opinion leaders on the important role of family businesses in the economy and local communities.

Impact and Focus
FEUSA is the go-to organization in Washington for information on the family business industry. FEUSA has established itself as a trusted resource through its two major projects, which will continue to be expanded upon:

• Capital City Fly-In: Twice a year, FEUSA gathers supporters in Washington, D.C., to hear updates on the organization’s latest work and developments and learn the state of federal policy impacting businesses. The supporters then meet with legislators to discuss FEUSA’s work, and educate them on the current economic environment businesses around the country face.
• FEUSA Annual Survey: Through its annual Family Business Survey, FEUSA has distinguished itself as an expert in data collection in the family business sphere. The data provides the foundation for executing FEUSA’s mission.

Over the coming years, FEUSA will continue to grow by conducting research in specific areas of tax policy that impact family-owned businesses. A primary focus will be researching the effects of the estate tax. FEUSA will explore the following topics in measuring estate tax impacts:

• Compliance Costs
• Environmental Impact
• Minority Wealth

Family Enterprise USA is uniquely positioned to provide the non-partisan intelligence, data, and educated arguments that opinion leaders will need in the coming years to elevate the debate around tax policies that influence family businesses. Family Enterprise USA’s research and work will be instrumental to solidifying FEUSA as the leading organization in Washington working on behalf of family-owned companies.
